WHAT WOULD THE PUBLIC LIKE?
Considerable discussion took place among town Connections this week relative to alleged violations of bylaws governing Lindsay's (axi business. It was contended by some tail owners that other operators were violating one recently passed bylaw which prohibits wolsting one recently passed bylaw which prohibits fernising? for fares.

Now, it is quite natural for taximen observing a bylaw to wish all others to do likewise but it seems that the wisdom of the bylaw may be open to question. One question is: Does the bylaw serve the interests of the taxi-using public best? And another-loos it serve the best interests of the trade?

Most people who have had occasion to use taxis know there are times when it is very convenient to be able to flag down a cruising cab. For example when leaving a show in well weather it is rather nice to be able to spot a call quickly and have speedy transportation below.

While not condoning the flagrant violation of any civic ordnance, it might be suggested that where difficulties arise such as cited herein, taximen could get ficulties arise such as cited berein, tamben could get together and review the situation. Bylaws can be retracted and if what appears to be an unsatisfactory ruling has been imposed, they could proceed to have if withdrawn or altered in an orderly way. The taxi business is concerned with serving the public and the needs of the public should always be a primary consideration.

Strictly Speaking Covernment Interference
Can Probably Be Blamed For The Present Shortage of Butter . . .
In order to get at the basic cause of the present butter shortage it is necessary to think back to the days of the second Worth War. At which the country of the second Worth War. At the country of the second Worth War. At the second to the second Worth War. At the second to ermment interfered by imposing price control. A nominal would command by imposing price control. A nominal event of the price control of the price control of the third plained of the arrangement throughout the war on a moderate scale because throughout the war on a moderate scale because throughout the war on a moderate scale because throughout the war on a constitution of the product on an open market. No one questioned this, but on an open market on forcitied to up much of a struggle against price control of the price control relax its rigid control of prices but it wasn't as simple as that. It was relatively easy to relax price control but this was no guarantee that the industry affected would pick up where it left off at before the war. Price controls forced basic producers to channel production into lines which offered the best restricted earnings. Into mes which offered the best restricted warmigs. It was apparent, even before the end of the war, that butter was not paying as well under price control as some other basic farm products because production as some other basic farm products because production was far short of requirements. This was the first sign that government price fixing was a failure and that it interfered with production.

that it interfered with production.

The second sign came a short while ago when butter prices skyrocketted with the announcement that the nation's butter supply, supposed to have been controlled by the government under a floor price arrangement, had suddenly run short. Here was evidence again that government price-fixing was not getting results. It could only be assumed that the farmers, results. It could only be assumed that the farmers, andicipating that the presence of margarine on the market would assure that current butter production would be ample and the price never go much above the floor level fixed, became disturbed. They again began to look for more lucrative returns on their cattle investments. Beef marketing appeared more promising and many deserted the dairying field parporolating and many deserted the dairying field partially or entirely.

No one can blame the farmers for looking out for themselves and trying to make a good profit on their investment and labor. They are quite justified in doing so. But there is a lot of criticism due a government which intereferse with prices to the extent of seriously dislocating an industry. This appears to a barnarium in connection with agriculture. By the be happening in connection with agriculture. By the same token criticism could not be spared any farm group which tolerated government price-fixing in the light of recent experiences

WHY NOT A DAIRY MARKET FOR LINDSAY?

An experiment which has proven successful in several American towns and one which is being tried out in a couple of Onitario centres might be successfully introduced to Lindays, Reference is made to the sides of direct from the producer to the consumer sale of milk on a cash and carry basis. Of most in these days of high prices and the resulting reduction in the cost of milk might encourage a little leg-work on the nart of the consumer.

work on the part of the consumer.

Lindsay would seem to lend itself to such an arrangement quite well because relatively few outlets would place cash and carry milk within easy reach town could arrange with businessess now equipped with refrigeration units to handle their product at a reduced price.

Of course, everyone wouldn't want to go to the trouble of purchasing milk on this basis but there are no doubt many families which would jump at the chance to save several cents on a quart.

Ten cents a day saved on milk would be $36.50 a year and that's a big part of many families' weekly

Johin Atkins of The Rural Scene:
The price of milk is fixed in most Canadian cities, and provinces by men who operate controls that prevent producers and consumers from buying and selling freely good milk, which meets all of the requiretrol boards fixes the price of milk for Canadian urban families. Without these control boards the health standards of milk could be maintained and fair prices could be established in every community by free dealing among producers, distributors and consumers. Control boards are only costly nuisances, which create

"Tax rebates called Family Allowances, which are made possible by parents' consumption of liquor and tobacco, are sufficient to provide milk for all children. The enormous cost of these tax rebates, which en-courage the self-indulgence of many parents, should be lessened by spending the taxes involved directly on the health and education of children.

The sad tale of a young man who received a legacy amounting to $5,000 and promptly spent four-fifths of it on a new car was told by a Canadian trust company this week. The young man was of age to receive the money, but even at 21 years, he failed to see what ultimate value the sum might have had to him, had 21 is a good age at which to pass on legacies from estates. In this case, the $5,000 was the entire sum passed on from a grandfather's estate, and it was loosely handled. The damage takes two forms, in this instance. Firstly, the dissipation of the money in suct a manner is to be deplored and indicates a lack of responsibility and experience on the young man's part.

It may be that the young man was strictly handled with regard to money during his youth, and when he suddenly acquired a fairly large sum he could not resist the temptation to "blow" it. In any case, the spending of such a sum in that manner was definitely of money. And in these days, as inflation hits barder and barder, the value of money is distorted enough without being influenced by outside conditions.

For the number of people who spend legacies foolishly at 21, however, there may well be many more who spend wisely. It is difficult to generalize in such a situation, because no two people will act the same in the same situation. What is apparent here, though, is that some form of control should have been provided over the money

Perhaps "instalment plan" payments of legacies ould correct some of the trouble. They might obwould correct some of the trouble. They might ob-viate part of the foolish spending, but they would have disadvantages, too. Consider the case of a man who wished to invest his whole legacy in a scheme con-wanted to myest his whole legacy in a scheme con-sidered wise by his lawyer and banker. The only way he might accomplish his desire would be to borrow against the rest of his legacy payments. Hence, any set rule will not solve the situation. Advice is the one quality that can overcome the loose apending of legacies, and until a better solution comes should be supported by the control of the c

WHEN you consider the men, women and money needed to operate 3,700 branchesyou see what is involved in looking after the greatly increased demands made by busy Canadians upon their chartered banks.

In ten years . . . with bigger staffs and higher wages, payrolls have jumped from $40 million a year to $102 million

:..taxes, federal, provincial and municipal, have risen from $9:5 million to $20.7 million a year

:.. interest paid to depositors has increas from $22 million to $57.8 million a year.

And these are only three of many expense items. Yes, today more than ever, it costs money to run a bank.

WHAT IS THE REAL REASON BEHIND PREVAILING HIGH

eryone knows that the price of food is exceed Breryone knows that the price of food is exceedingly high—higher than at any time in Canadrá's history—but what is the real reason behind it?

Are basic prices too high? The producers say not and are demanding floor prices on certain commodifies to protect their production cost outset.

What about the prices levied by the manufacturers and the markup taken by distributors? at these out of line? There is very little to go by in these cases unless one could take a peak at their profit and loss sheets and the chances of doing this are remote.

It is, however, interesting to note the following

(a) basic producers claim they are underpaid for some products.

(b) labor claims the cost of living is out of proportion to their earnings.

(c) manufacturers, processors and distributors of food products are not complaining about the state of their business, but in some instances they point out that the only way to get lower prices is to out that the only way to get lower prices is to produce more. In view of the present inflationary spiral of the price of foodsuturs it is only too apparent that some really determined effort should be put forward to get at the basic cause of the trouble, and at least offer a workable solution to the dilemma in which the nation finds itself. Leadership in this matter was never more urgently needed nor more sadly lacking

IS THE GOVERNMENT PAYING ANY ATTENTION WHATSOEVER TO THE PEOPLE'S WISHES?

WHATSOEVER TO THE PEOPLE'S WISHES?

There have been several contentious matter's come to the public's attention in recent times and the reaction of the government to public princin, has not been satirely conductive to contidence. It is not necessarily the content of the conte the people desire.

There is a remote chance that the members of the present government are not interested in holding office after the current term, has expired in which case they may be trying, through a number of unpopular Lawy may be trying, through a number of unpopular moves, to discourage the popularity which elected them. If such is the case, it would seem that they are on the right road but it is a sed state of affairs for a trusting public and it is the wrong way to vacate the political areas. On the other hand it could be that the present contribution has related before the property of the property of the present contribution has related before the present contribution has related before the present contribution to the related before the related to the the next election roles around. Servey, it such is the case, the lack of windom in giving any one political party too firm a grip on the reins has been too clearly littlistrated to bear repetition.

The question uppermost on everyone's mind in view of recent developments is then: "Is the government paying any attention whatsoever to the people's whitee."

What is happening to the Post Office? First, there What is happening to the Post Uniter First, there is an economy drive which cuts deliveries to one a day. Now, there is an increase in rates. As of Monday' the public finds itself in the unhappy position of paying more money for less service.

The most significant changes are those concerning third-case small. Hitheroic forwlards, postcards and similar printed matter have been delivered for one cent: now, it will coat two. This will mean a substantial increase in costs for companies which advertise by direct mail. But it is not only such companies that will be affected. Churches, clubs and organizations in general will find it more expensive to keep to touch with their members. Take the case of a church which sends out 500 notices a week. Canadians should note how the new rates came into effect. There was no debate in the House of Commons or Senate. No postal officials appeared before a Parliamentary Committee to explain, and if possible justify, the changes. They were simply "announced" from Ottawa: they were handed down from on high, like the proclamations of some ancient mon-arch or modern dictator. How long are the people of this country, and their elected representatives, go-

JOBS OF CONTENTMENT

It was that shrew! Scottish author, Sir James Barrie, we believe, who wrote that contentment consisted not of being rich, but of being contented with what we have. As everybody knows, including poor people, money does not ensure happiness. One of the most important factors in human life is having a job with which one is contented. It brings more happiness than a well-paid job that is trisome.

"Within the plant portals of the Book-Cadillae Hotel

Mr. Eft. etc. began his carreer as a shoe shiner in his native Greece when he was 13 years of age. The tariff at that time was two cents. When he went to the United States 43 years ago the tariff was ten cents, which Angelo (we'll call him that for short) entered the started has been also been contained in the started him that the started him that for short) when he started in business he had to shine 12 pairs for that. Angelo takes professional pride in his craftsmanship. And with shines at 26 cents a pair it is no wonder he is a contented man.

'WHAN THAT APRILLE'

April comes in on the wild back of a March night and goes out on the soft wings of a may morning. No wonder she's a favorite month with poets—even

"Oh to be in England, Now that April's there."

Now that April's there."

That was Browning. His countrymen, reading those lines, often put the accent on Eugland. We suspect Browning really put it on April. Anyway, he seems to have been spending the winter in a warner clime than Britain's, when suddenly a south wind turned over a new leaf on his calendar, and his thoughts went home—to April.

"April from shore to shore,

springing spray

springing apray."

That was Noyses. Chaucer, too, had a good word for Aprille. And a modern pool towed to watch her urying to do something with her "ratin-drened hain."

But April wasn't made for poets only, April Pools. But April wasn't made for poets only, April Pools. But her poets only, April Pools to the pool inspires the genium—on, becessarily poetic— of little boys. And on the last evening of the lovely month, when Blaces are tuntaliting us with promises and the magnolias' intentions are plain, and "My hawthorne tree burgeons once more" little girls may make littler baskets to hang on fortung doorknobs on bright tomorrow morning, afterward to run away trailing flying ribbons of laughter after

Poets, and pests, and children of the other sex, all celebrate April. But so does the workman, his ham-mer on a roof sends more joyous thud-thud over the valley. Even the banker catches himself whistling, and for a risky moment actually persists, then goes soberly back to feathering financial nests and gives the birds a chance.—Christian Science Monitor

IS THERE TOO MUCH OVERLAPPING IN GOVERNMENT SERVICES . . . ? In these days when Canadians are being put to considerable inconvenience through the curtalment of considerable inconvenience through the curtailment of an essential service like our mail delivery system, it would appear as though the time had come to con-sider possible overlapping of services, not nearly so essential, provided by the Federal and Provincial gov-

For example, attention might be focussed on the fact that both the province and the dominion maintain agricultural departments. There may be perfectly valid reasons why this is necessary but it seems that this is as far as their services need be duplicated. Such, this is as far as their services need to displacation of ser-vices is carried still further. Both departments main-tain publicity branches which doesn't appear entirely necessary. Surely one department (perhaps the Pro-vincial which is closer to the local scene) could channel all the publicity necessary for both the federal and provincial branches.

The public is, in the case of mail services, being deprived of something for which it is paying. The curtainment of this self-supporting service is done in the name of economy while other departments of the federal government which depend for support entirely upon the taxpayer's dollar, are operating on an extravagant basis.

Does this seem right? Or has the time come when governments should really get down to brass tacks on this economy business, save the tagrayer money on needless services which are often overlapping in nature, and give the service mortied to point in delivery field and any others which are actually performing a vital mission?

The majority of members of Council agree as to the need for a self-contained public school unit to serve the South ward—the largest of the town's three wards the South ward—the largest of the town s tree wares and the only one which has not an eight-grade school. The main disagreement seems to lie in the matter of when to bring the present school up to the required size which would entail the building of two additional rooms.

At this week's Town Council meeting a request was made of the Public School Board to defer the project for at least another year. It was contended that it would put the 1952 mill rate too high if the additional rooms were built this year, that this year's nedditional rooms were boilt this year, that this year's road program would not permit it, and that next year would be a better year in which to issue debentures everying the expenditure. Actually all this doesn't are not be entirely in keeping with the facts, nor does the idea of postponing the work appear to be wise for view of the uncertainty of today's building problems. In the matter of financing the addition, it was pointed out at the meeting that even though building was commenced shortly, it was for the problems of the start for another year is not going to have the effect of keeping 1952 taxes down at all.

have the effect of keeping 1952 taxes down at all.

The suggestion that the school project be set ov-

The suggestion that the school project be set over mother year because of the heavy road expenditure program facing the town is not apt to be generally viewed as a sound move. This plan would seem to lafer that a terrific road expenditure will be under-taken this year to the exclusion of all other town re-quirements. As was pointed out editorially "fuseday, roads do need repairing in Lindawy but no large scale roads do need repairing in Lindsay but no large scare program should be contemplated in one year. Road repair and replacement should be provided for a little each year. The town's spending should be apportioned to cover the various needs of the people with the spread being as even as possible in the light of cir-cumstances. Education is prior to roads in relation to its importance to the people of the community.

fits importance to the people of the community.

Postponing the start of work on the addition to the school for another year might possibly find the available supply of building materials even shorter than it is now. If supplies are now obtainable it might be well to strike while the iron is hot lest the postponement of the work be drawn out far beyond the school addition is built this year it was no emission with. Delay will not ease the financial burden on the taxpayer appreciably and will only prolong the inconvenience to children who normally should round out their education in the South Ward School.

In the meantme it would be a good idea if mem-bers of Council started casting about for ways and bers of Council started castling about for ways and means to trim down non-essential expenditures to find money for the essentials. The striking thing about Monday's discussion was that there was no sugges-tion on the part of councillors concerning curtailing the code of some less important municipal services the code of some less important municipal services that the contract of the contract municipal services that the contract of the contract municipal services that could be some part the council things. Surely there could be some part of the source of the council of the departments in order to meet an observed the council of the featurements in order to meet a some part of the council of the counci there could be some paring down on budgets of other departments in order to meet the added debenture payments which would be called for to carry out the school addition. What about the Parks Commission, Recreation Centre, Arena, etc., and their annual budgets. A thousand dollars saved in each instance would almost take care of the school addition deben-Is education not equally as important as any these three projects?

The people of the South Ward have been nati a long while in their plight. The distance which some children now have to travel to complete their public school education is considerably more than in most other wards. The South Ward needs facilities for providing complete public school training and it would seem unfair to postpone the project longer Economically the Council and School Board of last year missed the boat when they didn't add four rooms instead of two to the South Ward building thereby making a self-contained unit of it in one move. However, the errors of previous years do not con excuses for perpetuating the inconvenience to of this area this year.

was to begin to shown signs of materializing by the evening of the day the forecast was made (Saturday). Just for the record, there were no omens portending rain on the Saturday and there was no rain on the Sunday—it was a delightful spring weekend and the anxiety many people felt was just so much wasted energy.

Now this just goes to prove that even the expert weather forecasters can be wrong and sometimes are.
It also serves to emphasize that while reading the probabilities is an interesting practice, it doesn't pay to get unduly excited about the weather prospects without considering the local outlook.

Weather forecasts are general in their coverage and the area for which a prediction is made is often juite large. For this reason the unexpected can frequently happen within a forecast region. A rain squali quenty happen within a forecast region. A rian squant may indicate large potentialities but suddenly after to confine itself to a relatively small area. The same bling applies to other weather potentials which are constantly subject to the vagaries of nature. Of one thing we are certain "we shall have wea-ther whether or not."

HOW'S YOUR SENSE OF SMELL

Some people have an acute sense of smell. Some people have no use for a nose except to breathe through, and it is a source of trouble to good and through, and it is a source of trouble to good and non-smellers alliew when they have a cold. But a high capacity for detecting odors in a great advan-tage, especially to men working in places where dan-gerous gases sometimes develop. It would be a great advantage in a home where there is danger from a defective furnace, or seepage from a broken gas pipe. Many lives have been loss through not detec-tive these deadly odors. Evidence of the undesirability of automatically laying of employees at the age of 55 regardless of their ability continues to develop. BICYCLES WITHOUT LIGHTS PRESENT REAL HAZARD . .

The other night an accident was narrowly averted on one of Lindsay's streets. It was a murky night during the "rainy period" which has been in progress during the 'rainy perior' waiton as been in progress for some weeks, and visibility was not good at its best. Even well-lighted vehicles were travelling with caution and it is perhaps due to this fact that the potential accident referred to above didn't materialize.

The motorist in this case had just started making an east turn at an intersection when a bicycle loomed a few feet ahead travelling directly across the car's pathway. The rider, obviously very youthful, seemed not the least concerned about his action and didn't seem to be aware of the fact that riding an unlighted blcycle on such a night was extremely dangerous. Fortunately for the bicycle rider the motorist was proceeding slowly and was able to stop in time to processing slowly and was one to stop in time to avoid hitting his machine Now that's all there was to this incident but it does serve to emphasize the need for extreme caution by night-driving motorists and the advisability of cyclists having their conveyances properly and ade-quately lighted. Even properly lighted bicycles are difficult enough for motorists to discern on relatively élear nights

Others Say

The tremendous influence that television is having on the lives of most people in the United States has been revealed twice within the past few weeks. The been revealed tree within the past rew weeks. The first time that an overwhelming vote of confidence was registered for video came when Senator Estes Kefauver took his crime investigators into New York. The television cameras followed them, and a nation sat entranced.

The second conquest of television over time, work, and other interests came has week, of course. When General Douglas McArthur stood before a joint meeting of the fluouses of the United States, all eyes in the nation, and indeed, quite a few in Canada, were cast towards Washington. In this country, only those Brings in cities bordering on the dividing line between Canada and the United States were able to watch a Canada and the United States were able to watch a man often portrayed as America's greatest gene speak his piece before the people's representatives.

There has been much comment in Canada on the effect television will have on the habits of video addicts. In the United States, where television has come dicts. In the United States, where television has come to be the accepted thing in the living room, habits of a lifetime have been changed. The evening meal has a lifetime have been changed. The evening meal has been moved from the dining room to the parior, where members of the family set and watch at the same members of the family set and watch at the same members of them use chairs constructed in much the same manner as those used in high schools with the same manner as those used in high schools with the same manner as those used in high schools with the same manner as those used in high schools with the same manner as those used in high schools with the same manner as those used in high schools with the same manner as these used in high schools with the same manner as these used in high schools with the same manner as the same manne

UNPLEASANT TRUTHS

The Government is reluctant to set the whole wartime control machinery moving again, and rightly so. Price and wage controls are obnoxious. The Journal has opposed their imposition in peacetime as an interference with the economy of the country.

But the way in which the Government has al-lowed, yes, even encouraged, the upward climb of food prices, is now bringing home some unpleasant truths.

For there can be no evading the truth that un-reasonably high food prices have been the primary influence in driving up the cost of living in Canada. -Edmonton Journal

BRING ON THE SUBSTITUTE

BRING ON THE SUBSTITUTE
A few months ago it was announced by the dairy industry, or those who claim to represent its interests, that they intended to piece a product on the market which would control to the product of the market
which would control to the product of the market which would control to the product of the like butter. The announcement was greated with interest by many people who, while preferring to buy margarine at a lower price than butter, would not be averse to buying a similar substitute product turned out by the people who made butter and make from

Following the budget address in the Federal Ho of Commons last week, the dairy interests attacked the budget on the grounds that it should have made the road tougher for the margarine interests by placing a higher tariff on importations of the essential vegetable oils which are used in manufacturing the product. This criticism was a little surprising in that most people, following announcement of the dairymen's intention to produce a competitive substitute product, thought they would be devoting all their time to this rather than continuing to harp about the margarine

Industry.

Most people would like to see the dairy industry remain-prosperous and are willing to support it as far as they can. One of this extension is a support of the support of products. A good dairy-made butter substitute will do more to make the going harder for margarios than any amount of disgruitted order of margarios than any amount of disgruitted critical control of the substitute of the support is support to the support of the support is support to the support of the su realistic view of things.

THERE'S REALLY LOTS OF EVERYTHING Canadians have only got themselves to blame for much of today's inflation and they could remove the problem in very short order if they would but take a realistic view of things.

One of the major contributing factors to this infa-tionary period has been a desire on the part of many people to go all out on their spending. They seem to be obsessed with the idea that if they don't buy "this that and the other things" right away it is going to be unavailable. Actually, the reverse is true. A les-sening of demand would soon build up reserved. the many essentials and luxuries of life to the pol where the producers and manufacturers wouldn't able to charge all the traffic would bear. The consum would soon be in the driver's seat and able to make his purchasing dollar do some real work.

Looking at things realistically insofar as the available supply of most necessary items is concerned, there is plenty of everything to go around and some to spare. There are lots of shirts, lots of suits, shoes and other types of wearing apparel; there is an abun-dance of flour, bread, vegetables and most of the essential foods; the are plenty of cars to go around, essential foods; the are plenty of cars to go around, maybe not all new ones but cars nevertheless which could be conditioned to provide adequate transporation. There is plenty of timber still in our forests and the supply of fuels is not limited. Only a relatively few items are is short supply but in the majority of cases they are non-essentials and it would make very little difference to Mr. Average Citizen if they very little difference to Mr. Average Citizen if they were in short supply for the rest of his natural life. It is vitally important that Canadians, in order to abtatite the avariesce inflation, take this realistic view of their predicament. It is time for them to abandon the "hurry and ege" attitude and adopt the "vail and see" complacency which will get them anti-inflation action far quicker than the former plan.

There's really lots of everything if we only buy what we need and tike a stand-offsh attitude towards the chings we don't and take a stand-offsh attitude towards the chings we don't see the plan to would so this contraction of the chings we don't see the plan to would so the chings we don't do the plan to would soon be worth a dollar seal has plan to now would soon be worth a dollar each again instead of about 50 cents.

MONDAY HOLIDAYS

PREFERRED IN SUMMER

PREFERRED IN SUMMER
An act to amend the Dominion Day Act and the Victoria, Day Act is still before the Dominion House of Commons. The amending act makes provision for celebrating Dominion Day and Victoria Day holidays on the narray Klonday following. It has been given Fig. Trait and second residings but each time it has been brought in pro a third and final resuling it has been talked out. Whether or not the act will ever be finalized is still a matter of conjecture and will depend, no doubt, to a large extent upon public re-action. If it is to be effective this year it will naturally have to be passed fairly soon. That it will be appears extremely doubtful at this time.

Monday holidays for all occasions have been advocated for some time and from the businessman's point of view they have some apparent advantages. Most businesses close over the weekend in any event and if a holiday is coming during the next week the advantages of having it fall on a Monday can be readly seen. The industry is already idling for the weekend and the additional day can be worked in with considerably less dislocation than would occur if the holiday falls in mid-week.

There has been some objection to altering reli-gious holidays so they would fall on Monday and the same is found to be true of the most recent proposal to alter the day of observing Dominion Day and Vic-toria Day. It is to be expected that there will be a certain amount of opposition to the Monday holiday proposals on the grounds of sentimentality but people today are not overly-concerned with sentimental feel-ngs. Strictly speaking is is not likely that many people would pay any attention whatsoever to the circum es causing the holiday to be held if the holiday were to be dispensed with---in other words, while it is perhaps proper to have holidays commen orate some memorable event, it is entirely likely that the majority of people are more concerned with the

AS AN ORDINARY LAXATIVE

The manufacturers of Carter's Little Liver Pills bave been ordered to drop the word "Liver" from their trade name by the U.S. Federal Trade Commission, which says that "the pills have no therapeutic value in treatment of the liver and have no effect other than that of an ordinary laxative."

that of an ordinary hazative."

This is a blow to inneteenth century medicine, to popular folkfore, and to the American way of life. The idea in cherished by militions of people that particular drugs have affinitive for particular drugs have affinitive for particular known and the properties of the To shake the faith of so many people in a popular and harmless remedy is a grave responsibility, and we hope that the American F.T.C. knows what it

Whether laxatives are good or bad is a matter of dispute. But for decades people of this continent have been assured that ulness their bowels move every day been assured that uinces their noweis move every cap, they are in less than perfect health, and a huge trade in laxative is the result. And it may be said that once the lexative-taking habit has been formed, it is not easy to break it. There are no "ordinary laxatives"; all claim some special virtue

Millions of people who know nothing of anatomy or medicine are convinced that when the world looks dark to them, and their heads ache and their tongues are furred, the liver is the villain which is causing are furred, the liver is the villain which is causing these lils. Liver pills sit up their insides, and take their minds off their other troubles, even if they do nothing for the liver. To kill their faith in liver pills, and to assure them that their livers manage very well without outside assistance, is as cruel as it would be to tell them that there is no Santa Claus, and that the Devil is quite an amiable fellow -Peterborough Examiner

This is the time of year when some of our best citizens are difficult to get along with. Nervous and irritable, they exhibit all the symptoms of impatience and frustration. And why not? They are nervous and frustrated because, for them, this is the eve before the battle, the annual tuesle with Mother Nature and her daughers, the elements. They have spent the winter months poring over seed catalogues and books on how to grow everything from the humble haricot to the exotic orchid. Their gardening tools are sharp and glistening with a fine film of oil. Like highly trained race-horses, they are anxious to be off.

The digging season is fast approaching, but not enough for the gardening fraternity. Already in r mind's eye they see in their gardens, flowers their minufe see they see in their gardens, flowers richer in liue and more varied them ever were re-before, fruit and vegetables they have only to show to win the highest horticultural vavards. So, if the man next to you seems edgey and anxious, be genelle and kind to him. He is probably a member of a Garden Club. As soon as he is able to get down to serious business with Mother Earth, his good spirits will return and all you will have to contend with then will be the stories of how fine his gladioil are this year and the difficulty he is having with insects this year .- Northern News

DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME

DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME
In a couple of week's time most urban municipalities in Ontario will be changing over to daylight saving time. In this connection it is interesting to note that standard time, as we know it, is a very modern invention. As recently as 1878 there was no standard time around the world. In that year Sanford Plenning proposed that the Earth be sectioned off in 24 standard meridians, each zone representing one hour. This zone system spread around the world, and gives Can-ada five zones, with a certain degree of time accuracy.

As recently as 60 years ago, Ontario didn't enjoy as recently as 80 years ago, Ontario didn't enjoy standard timen in its communities. The clocks in Goderich were not the same as the clocks in Galt, which differed from the clocks in Belleville. Time was set by the solar system in each town, which, roughly, meant that when your shadow pointed directly south in the middle of the day it was 12 noon.

This was close enough when transportation was made by horse and ox-cart, but when the railroads rumbled their way through the maple woods, a more accurate system was adopted and rafiroad time came into being. At the turn of the century, C.P.R. time was generally accepted in the West, although many communities had their own time, and disregarded

We've gone a long way since then, in all parts of Canada. Mostly, however, it is a patch work sort of arrangement, or disarrangement, with some places setting their clocks ahead, others standing pat with standard time. The most satisfactory experience all have had, regarding daylight saving was when the leral government brought it in as a war measure a few years ago and everyone had to observe it.

—St. Thomas Times-Journal

holiday than its significance. For this reason the changing of the day on which an historical event is to be remembered will not be apt to influence one way or another the feelings of the people towards the occasion being recalled.

Insofar as disrupting that time for observing religious holidays are concerned it is improbable this matter would ever be pressed because they fall largely in the colder months in this country and the long weekends have their greatest appeal in summertime. St. Jean Baptiste Day is, of course, an exception but it is a regional religious holiday affecting only areas when it is observed in june.
